YELLOW FEVER—WEEKLY RESUME.
The heavy frost Wednesday night, and the clear, bracing weather since, have dissipated all fears of any further spreading of yellow fever, whose ravages for three weeks past have paralyzed business and created no little consternation. That the fever is rapidly abating we have incontestable evidence. The number of cases reported to the Secretary of the Board of Health have daily grown smaller during the week, and the Howard Association have few more applications for nurses. Last week the rooms were almost literally deluged with requests of this character, which were some days more numerous than could well receive attention. Yet, notwithstanding the rapid abatement of the disease, the mortality has been much heavier this week than last. The report of Dr. Rogers, the health officer, showed 36 deaths last week. The number of interments for the six days of the present week ending last night is as follows: Sunday, 8; Monday, 7; Tuesday, 9; Wednesday, 12; Thursday, 8; Friday, 6 —total, 50. Estimating to-day's interments at yesterday's figures—6—we have for the week 56—a daily average of 8. Last week the mortality from yellow fever was 35, an average of 5.1-7 per day. The mortality the first week of the fever was 28, an average of 4.1-7 per day; and the total mortality for the three weeks of the dread scourge was 119, a mean average of 6½ per day. That an average of 5½ deaths per day for three weeks should create the panic which prevailed here for ten days can only be explained by the fact that so large a proportion of our population had never before come in contact with the disease, added to the extraordinary appliances used to induce a sensation. The heavy mortality during the present week was the natural result of the sudden changes of weather, causing many cases to prove fatal which, with a steady temperature, would have been saved. But the same weather rapidly abated the disease until now it is regarded as having run its course.
Already many citizens driven away by the fever have returned, and we notice new arrivals every day. We do not believe any one incurs risk in coming to Memphis now, although many may prefer awaiting another frost, which will doubtless come very soon. The terror inspired by the dreaded scourge has passed away; our citizens no longer wear lengthened faces, and our merchants are busy as bees preparing for the trade which must flow into the city in a few days.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATER.—Miss Melville's benefit drew a large audience to the theater last night. Camilla's Husband, the opening piece, is an interesting drama, possessing a good plot. Miss Melville's "Camilla" was a careful, correct rendition. She played it with no little feeling, and was greeted with rounds of applause. Mr. Roche, as "Maurois"—the artist husband of "Camilla"—surpassed many of his previous efforts, and Mr. Ellerton's "Dogbrier," a strolling drinker, produced merriment in abundance. Before the afterpiece the recitation of "Col. Burke before his Judges" was well rendered by Mr. J.
Seessel. The Pretty Housebreaker concluded the evening. This is announced as Miss Melville's last evening. The bill is Emeralda and the Swiss Sicilian.

NEW BOOKS.—The new Hand-Book of Cookery, for ladies and professional cooks, containing the whole science and art of preparing human food, written by Prof. Pierre Biot, is out. It is one of the most complete books on this subject ever written, and its author is the highest authority. We commend it to the class indicated above. For sale by Cowperthwait, Chapman & Co., 278½ Main street.
This firm has also received "A Book for Lawyers," by John Cody Jefferson, barrister-at-law. It abounds in sketches and anecdotes of prominent lawyers of the present and past ages, and will be found especially interesting to the profession. They have Miss Mulbach's works complete, and the Globe edition of Dickens' works, of which they are agents. Their supply of schoolbooks and stationery is ample.

OPENING MONDAY—321 Main street.
MARRIAGE OF A MEMPHIS MERCHANT.
The well known Memphis merchant, Mr.
B. Lowenstein, of B. Lowenstein & Bros., was married in New York Wednesday to Miss Sophie, daughter of M.
Mendelson, Esq., a merchant of that city. After the marriage ceremony the bride party partook of an elegant repast at Hexter's Hotel, No. 906 Broadway, where the bride and bridegroom were toasted in bumpers of sparkling wine.

I. O. O. F.—In Nashville, Thursday, the following named gentlemen were elected officers of the Grand Lodge: Henry Brown, B. W. Grand Master, Jackson; M. R. Elliott, R. W. D. G. Master, Gallatin; William E. Frost, R. W. G. Secretary, Nashville; Robert Thompson, R.
W. G. Treasurer, Nashville; W. G. Hensley, R. W. G. Chaplain, Congressville; W.

$600 a set, at Memphis Hat Company, No. 269 Main, opposite the Square. 57

"A Tale of Enchantment."—Mr.
Andrew Flynn, the well known Nashville theatrical manager, is in the city making arrangements to produce "A Tale of Enchantment" at the Greenlaw Opera House in about ten days. The spectacle is decidedly Black Crookish in character, and wherever presented has drawn crowded houses.

A FINE ESTABLISHMENT.—People passing the southeast corner of Second and Madison streets cannot fail to be attracted by the fine display made in L.
Rocco & Co.'s windows. Mr. Rocco is known as one of our oldest and most successful merchants, having been in business here for seventeen years, during which time he has built up a very large trade. We looked over his stock this morning and found it one of the largest ever displayed in Memphis. His "Tennesee Steam Candy Manufactory" daily furnishes large supplies of the finest candies made, which are temptingly displayed in the spacious salerooms.
Cakes and confectionery of every kind, fresh and fine, can be purchased there in any quantity. Messrs. Rocco & Co. have filled up their storerooms for the fall and holiday trade, and in the confectionery department everything ever kept in such establishments can be procured. Their stock of toys, torpedoes, fire crackers, etc., is larger than ever presented before. The public are invited to call and examine the establishment, and allow the goods to speak for themselves. In the adjoining storeroom a very large and complete stock of groceries and provisions is kept
